Club S.O.S!

Sometimes even the best of friends need help! So here are Rani's top tips for keeping your club cool...

Follow the leader!

Is everyone squabbling about who is in charge? Then make a token of some sort, like a decorated wooden spoon. Give this to a different person each week. The person with the spoon is the boss!

I don't know! What do YOU want to do?!

Run out of ideas? Go to our website or have a brainstorm. Have a goal - what do you want to achieve in your club? Write down five things each that would help you do it!

Where is everyone?!

Not enough people in your club? Get each member to invite one special friend and your club will double in size! Don't forget to ask the new members for ideas of what they would like to do.

Of course! Why didn't I think of that!

I've just had a brilliant idea!

Where, oh where?!

It's tricky deciding on a headquarters, so choose the easiest place or move it around so everyone has a chance to host. Don't forget to bring your mascot so any place can be your club HQ!

Club chaos!

Do you have too many people or ideas? Here are your options. Split into two clubs that are interested in doing different things or write your ideas down on bits of paper and draw them out of a hat, one by one.

Busy bodies

Not enough time for club meetings? You could try having lots of very short meetings before, after and during school. Also, try to get a whole day together every now and then by sending out proper invitations for club meetings and asking your parents to help, too.
